DISCOVERY OF PLOT LED AUTHORITIES TO TAKE MOST RADICAL ACTION.

SPAIN PASSES NEW CRISIS

Revolutionary Outbreak Startles the Regents Into Prompt Action Which Prevents Serious Disturbances.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Madrid, Nov. 2.—Despite reports that emanate from the government that there has been no revolutionary outbreak, particularly in Barcelona, and that there is a decided calm throughout the country, it is certain that Spain has passed and is today passing through a political crisis and but for the prompt action of the cabinet and heads of the army a revolution would have broken out.

The discovery yesterday of a revolutionary plot which was widespread in its scope, caused hundreds of suspects to be arrested simultaneously throughout the kingdom. These arrests were made last evening and this morning and were accomplished with a showing of considerable force and much disorder.

The council of ministers has been sitting in permanent session since the outbreak in Portugal, discussing at length the measures taken by the minister of war calling out the first army reserves. This was the cause of the trouble last year.

The ministers entertained considerable apprehension, fearing this would be unpopular and consequently dangerous, but the attitude of the republicans during the last few days made the step imperative.

Further, it has been declared that the example of the Portuguese should shame the Spaniards and that the moment for action has arrived.

The policy of the Canalejas cabinet was to nip in the bud any attempt at a demonstration, and so to prevent excitement of any kind in the groups which collect around the newspaper offices to read the latest news.

The government is confident, first, in the army's loyalty to Don Alfonso, and second of the fulfillment of the Canalejas liberal reforms. It can be

FRENCH CABINET RESIGNS BECAUSE OF STRIKE CRISIS

Divergence of Views Regarding Legislation to Prevent Railway Strike is Cause of Resignation.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Paris, Nov. 2.—The French cabinet resigned today. Although the fact that there was a divergence of views among the ministers concerning legislative measures designed to prevent the crisis brought about by recent railway strike, was well known, the resignation created a sensation, as it had been expected that Premier Briand would remain, and would remain the ministry in harmony with his views on this parliamentary program to meet future strike crisis.

The action is said, is to weed out certain ministers whose views are not in accord with the Briand. It is thought that Briand will head a new cabinet in a short time.

to the aid of 10,000 garment workers, who are out on a strike.

There is expected to follow one of the greatest and most remarkable trades wars in the history of Chicago. The clothing manufacturers will be opposed by labor, the latter reinforced by society women.

The roster of the "society strike auxiliary brigade" includes the names of Mrs. Ellen M. Herrold, Dr. B. B. Breckinridge, Mrs. George H. Mead, Miss Edith Abbott and Miss Gertrude Barnum. Jane Addams will lend her aid in an advisory capacity.

Series of demonstrations are in training for the prospective battle, when they expect to fight shoulder to shoulder with the women of the factories. Miss Barnum, daughter of former Judge Barnum of Chicago, addressed a mass meeting of 1,500 coat and vest makers in Walsh's hall, Milwaukee avenue and Noble street.

A conference between the officers of the Women's Trade Union league and prominent women whom Mrs. Raymond Robins, president of the league, has requested to serve on the strike committee, will be held at Hull house.

The officers of the league met with the officers of the district council of the garment workers and discussed the outlook.

According to Mrs. Robins, the society women, who agree to help the working girls will have to be on the scene of trouble all the time to do the most good, and they will be requested to escort the girl-pickets while on duty, to see that they are not roughly handled by the police.

NO PARTY OWNS EMPIRE STATE

THOUGH IT HAS BEEN REPUBLICAN FOR 16 YEARS.

UPSET OF 1902 RECALLED

And Likewise Roosevelt's Narrow Victory in 1898—Fifty Years of Warfare Reviewed.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Nov. 2.—The election to be held next Tuesday will be the twenty-sixth contest between the Republican and Democratic parties for the governorship of New York. In twenty-five, beginning with the election of 1854, the Republicans have elected sixteen candidates and the Democrats nine. The pluralities of the winning candidates have ranged from Fenton's 7,293 to Black's 212,992. These extremes are both Republican pluralities. The greatest Democratic plurality was 194,854 for Cleveland.

In the election of 1854 all elements opposed to the Democrats fused on the Whig candidate, Myron H. Clark, and he was elected. He was the last Whig and the first Republican governor. John A. King, elected in 1856, was the first straight-out-Republican governor. In 1858 Edwin D. Morgan, long one of the big figures of the State, and in many respects the Mark Hanna of his time, was put up by the Republicans. The Democrats nominated Amasa J. Parker of Albany. Morgan was elected by 17,440 votes. In 1860, the Democratic party being badly split over slavery, Gov. Morgan was re-elected by a plurality of 90,400, which stood for years as one of the record pluralities.

In 1862 the Democrats again rallied around their old chief, Horatio Seymour, and elected him over James W. Wadsworth by 10,752. The victories of Gettysburg and Vicksburg, did much to help the Republicans elect Rouben E. Fenton over Seymour in 1864. It was a victory won after a bitter struggle and by a margin of only 723. Fenton had another hard struggle to win re-election two years later. The Democratic candidate was John T. Hoffman, a Tammany Hall man. Hoffman tried again in 1868 and defeated John A. Griswold, the Republican candidate by a plurality of 27,946. Hoffman was re-elected in 1870 over Stewart L. Woodford by a plurality of 25,000. He was the last winner of a Tammany Hall governor. It was under his administration that Tweed reached the height of his power.

The election of John A. Dix over Francis Kernan in 1872 put the Republicans in power again. The plurality was 53,451. Dix tried for re-election in 1874, and was defeated by Samuel J. Tilden. The Republicans named Edwin D. Morgan again in 1876. But the Democratic national ticket of Tilden and Hendricks swept Morgan's opponent, Lucius Robinson, into office by 30,460. Two years later Robinson was defeated for re-election by the Republican candidate, Alonzo B. Cornell.

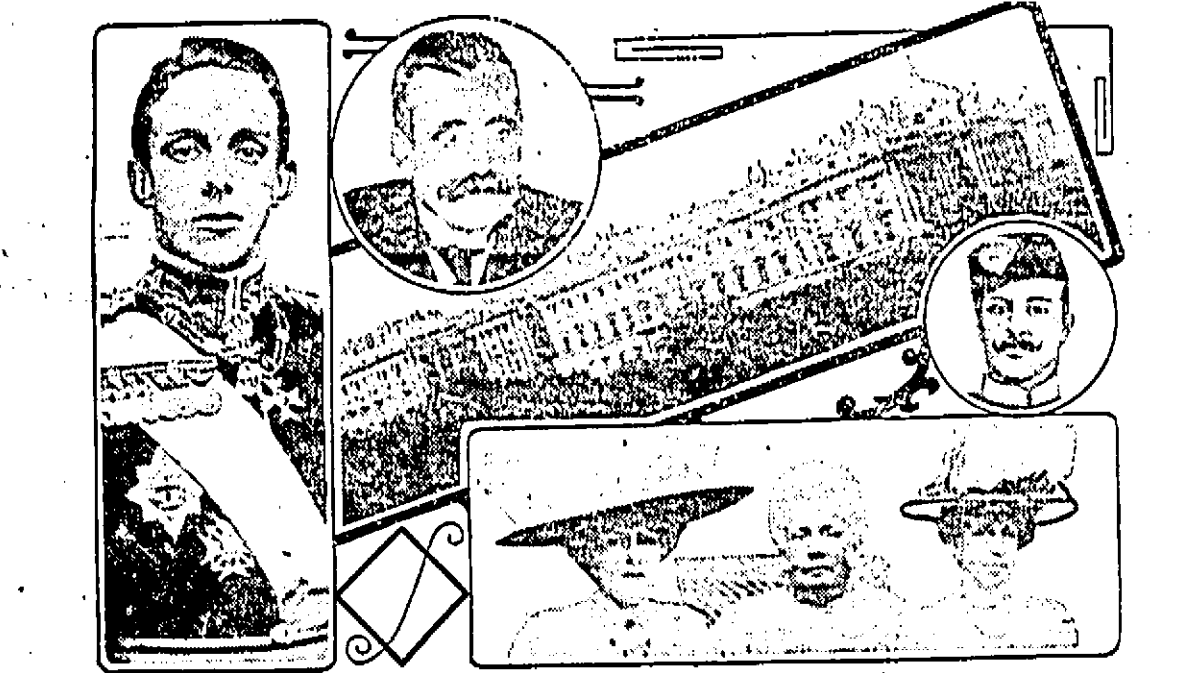

It was in 1862 that the greatest Democratic plurality was obtained. The row between President Garfield and Senators Conkling and Platt led to a great Republican defection and the result was the election of the Democratic candidate, Grover Cleveland, then mayor of Buffalo, over Charles J. Folger, the Republican candidate by the tremendous plurality of 192,851. The next election marked the return of most of the voters to their former party allegiance. David D. Hill, who had become governor in place of Grover Cleveland, who had been elected President, was elected for a full term, receiving 501,465 votes to 490,331 received by Ira Davenport, the Republican candidate.

The beginning of the long and bitter struggle between Grover Cleveland and David D. Hill marked the contest for the governorship in 1888. Hill was re-elected over Warner Miller, Republican, by a plurality of 19,171. In the next election Roosevelt P. Flower, Democrat, defeated J. Stout Fassett, Republican, by 47,337. Flower was the last Democratic governor. In 1894 Senator Hill was nominated by the Democrats. The Republicans named ex-Vice President Morton who was elected by a plurality of 166,108.

The record plurality was rolled up in 1896. The Democrats split over the silver question and Frank S. Black, the Republican candidate, was elected by 212,992. One of the greatest surprise came two years later when Theodore Roosevelt defeated Augustus Van Wyck by the small plurality of 17,734. In 1900, the McKinley ticket carried Benjamin H. Odell, Jr., into the governor's chair by a plurality of 111,125. His Democratic opponent was John B. Stanchfield.

One of the most remarkable upsets was that of 1902, when Odell, seeking re-election defeated Bird S. Coler by only 9,752, giving him the second narrowest victory in all the battles for

LINK AND PIN. RUSH OF BUSINESS ON ST. PAUL ROAD

Freight and Passenger Departments of Railroad in City Have Been Very Busy.

If the business done by a railroad is any indication of good times, this section of the country is at present enjoying a period of prosperity in a large measure. On the St. Paul road at present both freight and passenger business is probably at its height. An enormous amount of freight is being handled here and crowds are kept busy all the time. Six switch engines are required to handle the work in the local yards, four crews working during the day and two at night in the making up of the regular trains, extra and taking care of the cars consigned to the beet sugar factory and other establishments about town. During the past month a record has been set at the passenger depot for ticket sales and the ticket office forces have been rushed with work. The receipts show a very substantial gain over the month of October last year and, judging from the amount of business transacted the first two days of this month, there will be no letting up. The rush of trade has meant a constant demand for motive power to move the trains and the force at the roundhouse has been on the move all the time. Engine repairs have been rushed to completion and the day machinists' force, with their helpers, were compelled to work overtime last night.

Train No. 166, stock freight, had two accidents out of here last night.

NEW ORGANIZATION FORMED BY MEN OF METHODIST CHURCH

Men of the M. E. Church Held Banquet Last Evening and Organized Society of Methodist Brotherhood.

Men of the Carroll M. E. church enjoyed a delightful banquet which was served by Circle No. 1 at the church parlors last evening. This was the first of a series of banquets that are to be given during the coming winter. These meetings will be held under the auspices of the Methodist Brotherhood, a new church organization which was formed at the meeting last evening. This society is a chapter of the general Methodist organization of that name, which was organized at the general conference held in Baltimore in 1908. The societies of the Wesleyan Brotherhood and the Brotherhood of St. Paul were merged into this organization under the name of the Methodist Brotherhood.

Officers were elected and the organization further completed at last evening's meeting so that the local church has a branch of the general society. The officers elected are:

President—Dr. E. E. Leonard. 1st Vice Pres.—Dr. F. T. Richards. 2nd Vice Pres.—S. C. Burnham. 3rd Vice Pres.—T. E. Bonham. 4th Vice Pres.—G. A. Jacobs. Secretary—Clifford Austin. Treasurer—Harold Green. Chaplain—J. A. Caniff.

State Forester E. M. Griffith of Madison gave a very interesting and instructive address on "Conservation in Wisconsin." With the use of stereopticon slides he showed what was being done toward preserving the forests in this state.

It is the purpose of these meetings to encourage a spirit of brotherhood among the men of the church and to provide an opportunity for a social gathering once every month. The next banquet will be given December sixth.

Rival Organizations.

The man who had been keeping his seat in a Lexington avenue car, the seats of which were well occupied by women, spoke at last to the woman hanging on to a strap and who had been eying him intently for some time. "I know I ought to get up and let you have my seat, madam," he said, "but I'm pledged against that sort of thing. I have just joined the 'Sit Still club,' an organization we have formed in Harlem, and if I should violate the solemn obligation I took when I became a member of that body I should be expelled and held up to the execration of all other members."

"That is all right, sir," replied the woman. "You mustn't mind my looking at you so hard. I am a member of the 'Stand and Stare club.'"

After which she continued to stand and stare at him in such a fierce manner that he finally got up, waved her into his seat and said, "I guess I'll resign from my club and join yours right now, madam."—New York Press.

A Throne and a North Wind.

Long had Gustavus Vasa sought to rouse his fellow countrymen, the Swedes, against the infamous Danish tyrant Christian, whose memory will always be linked with that of the "blood bath" of Stockholm. But the brave Gustavus found his compatriots cowardly and slow. An outflow himself, no voice was raised in the assembly in his favor. He called upon the people to fight, but they sat sullen around him. Suddenly a cold wind rose from the north, and an old countryman cried, "God approves of the designs of Vasa, for a north wind is always a happy presage." These simple words acted like magic. The men flew to arms and prayed Gustavus to lead them against the Danes. In a few days he had collected an army large and brave enough to give battle to the formidable troops of the king of Denmark. Victory was theirs from the first, and the capture of Stockholm in 1523 placed the crown of Sweden upon Vasa's head.—Pearson's Weekly.

West Pointers on the Battlefield.

One thing of which all West Pointers felt proud was the brotherly love and kindness shown by both sides to fellow graduates when taken prisoners or when otherwise in distress. I have heard the story told of Fitzhugh Lee that on one occasion when scouting with a squadron of cavalry in the desolate country between Fairfax Courthouse and Alexandria he captured a picket of a similar commander under Tom Hight and learned that the latter was taking breakfast in a farmhouse. Fitz went in alone, found Tom at table with his back to the door, so he was able to get up to him and slap him on the back before saying, "I think, Tom, you might have put out one picket." They took breakfast together, and then Fitz sent an escort to conduct him to the Federal lines and bring back his horse, having of course first paroled him. This was to save him from Libby prison.—General S. W. Ferguson in Metropolitan Magazine.

I. C. DIRECTORS SERVED WITH SUBPOENAS AT ANNUAL MEETING. Upper left, James T. Hurahan; upper right, John Jacob Astor; lower left, Cornelius Vanderbilt; lower right, J. Ogden Armour.

Chicago, Ill.—Two harmless looking deputy sheriffs threw the entire operating department of the Illinois Central railroad system into confusion, and delayed the president's special train more than two hours during the annual stockholders' meeting last week. While the door of the room in which the meeting was being held was guarded by four other officers, the deputies rudely checked the executive sensibilities of John Jacob Astor, Cornelius J. Vanderbilt and other millionaire directors of the road by serving subpoenas in a $10,000,000 damage suit. The $10,000,000 "damage suit" was filed in the circuit court by Jeanne Edgar, wife of Maxwell Edgar, and holder of two shares. The case is set for the third Monday in November.

Catarrh of the Stomach a Prevalent Disease Difficult to Relieve.

A PROMPT AND EFFICIENT REMEDY.

Mr. S. W. Jackson, 315 Weaver Block, Greenville, Ohio, says: "While I was superintendent of construction of J. P. Bender and Bros., Co., of Hamilton, Ohio, I became entirely unfit for business with catarrh of the stomach."

"A friend called my attention to a remedy for this condition. I began to improve at once. I was soon able to return to my former profession."

"It would require many pages to describe the condition I was in and the relief I have obtained."

Here is another case. Officer George Y. Stant, 721 North Broadway, Baltimore, Md., says: "I suffered very much with catarrh of the stomach and nervous indigestion. I lost fifty pounds in four months."

"A friend called my attention to a remedy, which I used, and gradually got well. I have gained half my lost weight back again."

Chronic Stomach Trouble.

Mr. Robert J. Gillespie, 631 South Main St., Los Angeles, Cal., secretary of Father's International Union, was also suffering from catarrh of the stomach a long time. He grew thinner and paler, lost all ambition and appetite. Sick at the stomach, indigestion continually.

A friend called his attention to a remedy, which brought about a decided improvement. After continuing the use of the remedy for a month, he considers himself permanently relieved.

Now, once more, Mr. Christian Hoffman, Stratford, Pa., says he suffered for many years with catarrh of the stomach. It produced a miserable cough, day and night. He tried doctors and many remedies. At last his attention was called to a remedy, the same which relieved the others which have been referred to above. He claims that he was entirely rid of his stomach difficulty.

Peruna Brought Back Health.

What was the remedy that has wrought this remarkable relief? No far, the remedy has not been mentioned. If any one doubts the correctness of these statements it is very easy to verify them by writing to the people whose names have been given, enclosing a stamp for reply.

The remedy is within the reach of every one. It is simply the good, old standard reliable remedy known as Peruna.

If the truth were known, the probability is that Peruna has relieved as many cases of catarrh of the stomach as any other popular remedy in existence. We have a great many uncollected testimonials from all parts of the United States, declaring in strong and enthusiastic terms that Peruna has entirely relieved them of catarrh of the stomach, that they were weakened and miserable beyond words, but Peruna has restored them to health, vigor and happiness.

These are the facts. Now, if you have stomach difficulty, it is up to you to act upon them or ignore them, as you please.

Symptoms of Stomach Catarrh.

"The affection may result from errors in diet, or the use of alcohol. The excessive use of tobacco, especially when the juices of the leaves are swallowed, is likely to cause it."

"Highly seasoned or coarse, irritating foods, sometimes induce the disease."

"A chronic gastritis (catarrh of the stomach) is essentially a secondary affection, one of the primary causes is an unhealthy state of the mouth, nose or throat, such as bad teeth or catarrh of the nose (ozena)."

"The patients are usually poorly nourished, pale, sallow, thin, fatigued easily induced, muscular flabby. Loss of appetite or capricious appetite."

"The tongue is usually coated brownish gray. Catarrhed mouth is a common occurrence."

"Pain is not common. When present it is usually dull, and is aggravated by food, especially when this is of an irritating character."

"Vomiting may occur in the morning. Also after meals. Sickiness to the stomach frequent and persistent."

"Food produces dull headache, and a feeling of general nervous distress. Constipation usually quite marked."

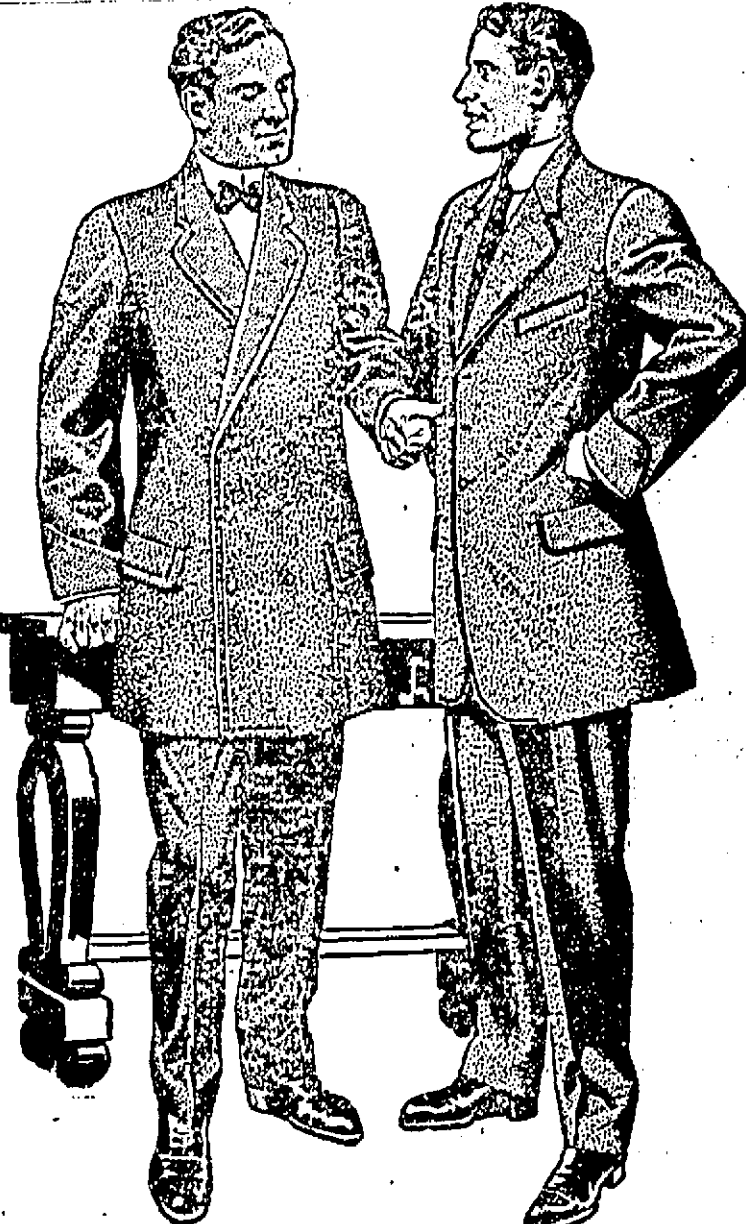

"These symptoms, given by Gould and Pele, coincide exactly with the frequent descriptions Dr. Hartman is receiving from patients all over the United States."

If you have any of these symptoms get a bottle of Peruna. Take a dose before each meal. See if your stomach does not immediately feel better, your appetite improve, your digestion at once resume business."

People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets.

How Our Piano Business Is Conducted

You could send your ten year old boy down to this store with $300 to buy a piano. He can shop in this piano store unaided, and, without risk. He will secure a $300 instrument in exchange for the money. Neither musical expert—nor value judgers—need go with him.

You could call us up by telephone—tell us the price you wish to pay—the style of instrument you wish—and we would send to your home an instrument, which, in quality, will fit the price you expend to the very dollar.

Of course, it is quite contrary to your shopping ideas to buy a piano in this way, but you could safely shop that way at this store if you want to.

The above is simply our way of telling you the way this piano business of ours is conducted. It is part of our business policy showing openly the absolute safety any buyer may have in buying a piano here at any price.

Our complete stock of pianos embraces a showing at prices from the lowest to as high as you would care to go.

Remarkable Superiority

Judge the Newman Bros. piano point by point for quality of tone, for modulation, for workmanlike, for durability, for artistic appearance, and you will be compelled to admit its remarkable superiority.

This instrument is being purchased constantly by people of the highest musical judgment after the most minute comparison with all other prominent makes.

Satisfaction is greater than price. Price is certainly a consideration in buying a piano, but price is a dangerous thing when used as the chief issue. In the Newman Bros. piano you get the superior quality of tone also great durability, and then again you get the right price with value received. Just step in and examine these famous pianos and be convinced of the truth.

Mortgage on a Cat.

A mortgage on a cat is not often heard of. However, the other day there was filed in the recorder's office a chattel mortgage, the consideration of which was $20. The property on which the money was secured was described as "a cat called John."—Columbus Dispatch.

Mazarrin and his pictures.

Perhaps no more ardent lover of pictures ever lived than Cardinal Mazarrin, minister of the treasury during the minority of Louis XIV. Being told that he had but two months to live, he was soon after seen in his nightgown and dressing gown, tottering along the gallery, pointing to his pictures, exclaiming: "Must I quit all these? Look at that Correggio! this 'Venus' of Titian; that incomparable 'Deluge' of Caracci! Farewell, dear pictures, that I have loved so dearly and that cost me so much!"

Exaggerated.

Among the begonia letters recently received at the office of a benevolent society was one running thus:

"This unfortunate young man is the only son of a widow who died childless, and his earnings maintain his aged father and infant brothers, whose sole support he is."

The secretary of the society wrote on the margin of the epistle the following note:

"The circumstances of the case are evidently exaggerated."—London Tatler.

Champagne Corks.

Champagne corks are made of the very finest Catalonian corkwood. When the tree of that wood is planted, thirty years must elapse before it becomes fit for the first stripping of the bark, and even then the cork is of no use, being much too coarse. After eight years more a second crop arrives, but that again is of but poor quality, and eight years more, making forty-six years in all, must pass before the grower can reap any material benefit from the tree. Then, again, the greatest care is necessary for the manufacture of the best champagne corks because should they be defective in size and shape the quality of the wine will suffer. For that reason they are not made by machinery, like the ordinary cork, but are cut by hand, as their work can be done that way.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Not Much of a Prize.

The first prize in a lottery held at a fete at Abbeville, in France, was kept a secret until the drawing took place, when the winner found, to his horror, that it consisted of two graves, on which flowers were to be planted at the expense of the giver. The giver is a horist and also the local grave-digger.

HOW RICE PAPER IS MADE

Pulp of Aralia Tree is Used and Not Rice as is Popularly Supposed.

The so-called rice paper is not made from rice, as its name implies, but from the snow white pith of a small tree belonging to the genus Aralia, a genus represented in this country by the common sarsaparilla and the spikenard. The tree grows in Formosa, and so far as is known, nowhere else.

The stems are transported to China and there the rice paper is made. It is used, aside from a number of other purposes, by the native artists for water color drawings, and sometimes it is dyed in various colors and made into artificial flowers.

The tools of the pith worker comprise a smooth stone about a foot square and a large knife or hatchet with a short wooden handle. The blade is about a foot long, two inches broad and nearly half an inch thick at the back, and it is as sharp as a razor. Placing a piece of the cylindrical pith on the stone, and his left hand on the top, the pith worker will roll the pith backward and forward for a moment until he gets it in the required position.

Then, seizing the knife with his right hand, he will hold the edge of the blade, after a feint or two, close to the pith, which he will keep rolling to the left with his left hand until nothing remains to unroll; for the pith has, by the application of the knife, been pared into a square white sheet of uniform thickness. All that remains to be done is to square the edges.

If one will roll up a sheet of paper, lay it on the table, place the left hand on top and gently unroll it to the left he will have a good idea of how the feat is accomplished.

Not for the Philosophers.

Suppose a tree is going to fall; will some of the high forebears explain why in its falling it always crushes the man with small income and large family, the one most needed among the number of men at its base?—Atchison Globe.

VICINITY OF MOUNT VESUVIUS DEVASTATED.
Map showing the location of principal centers. At top, Harbor of Iachia, Bay of Naples.

Iachia, an island of volcanic formation at the entrance of the Bay of Naples, has an area of about 20 square miles. The harbor was originally a lake, but in 1853-54 a channel was cut, connecting it with the sea. Iachia contains several volcanoes and is famous for its mineral springs, its fine fruits, and its delightful climate. Below, Sorrento, on the cliffs above the Gulf of Naples, embowered in orange groves. In Roman times Sorrentum was famous for its "Villa," and the modern city is still a favored summer resort.

THE BRIDGE QUESTION.

The voters are to decide at the coming election whether or not new concrete bridges will be built at Fourth avenue and Racine street, the former to take the place of the old structure, the latter to open up a new thoroughfare across the river. The following specifications are contained in the election notice:

"That the precise amount of the special tax for the purpose of constructing the bridge at Fourth avenue, in the City of Janesville, is the sum of $25,000; that the precise amount of the special tax for the purpose of constructing the bridge at Racine street, in the City of Janesville, is the sum of $17,000."

This of course contemplates bridges similar to the new one on Court street, good for a century, and while they cost four or five times what pile bridges would cost they would be permanent, a credit to the city, and in the end the most economical.

This question, when submitted at the primary election, carried by an overwhelming majority, but through some technical error in the call, which was liable to invalidate the bond issue, it became necessary to re-submit it.

There is no reason why public sentiment should change in sixty days, and there is every reason to believe that the verdict rendered will be sustained.

The city has more miles of good sidewalks than any city of similar size in the state, and is rapidly coming to the front in street building. Good bridges are a part of the street system and now is the people's opportunity to express their opinion on this important question.

It is only a matter of time when the Milwaukee street structure will need to be replaced by something more modern. Public improvements should be made with a view to permanency, and no mistake will be made in voting "yes" on the bridge question.

The twin binder plant seems to be one of the questions discussed by campaign orators, who imagine that Wisconsin farmers are suffering from prison-made twine. These arguments are simply water-catchers. Every intelligent farmer who has given the matter investigation, knows that with but one exception, state twine plants are operated at a loss. The state might better throw away the money already invested than to spend half a million more to complete the plant.

The supreme court of the state has decided who the legal candidate for attorney general is, and the people are satisfied with the decision. The name of Levi H. Bancroft will appear on the republican ticket, and he will be elected with the rest of the ticket. Mr. Gunderson, the defeated candidate, with 43,000 votes behind him, is out for him, like the loyal republican that he is.

Mr. Bryan devotes the last issue of the "Commoner" to the political speeches he made while campaigning in Indiana, so that his constituency may keep pace with his oratory. For sublime egotism the Nebraska statesman leads the procession. He published, a time ago, a volume of his editorials. It will be no fault of his if he ever drops out of the limelight.

The one and only issue in Wisconsin, according to the speakers who are campaigning the state, is Levi H. Bancroft, and no stone is being left unturned to accomplish his defeat. Mr. Bancroft should be elected with the rest of the ticket.

There may be justice in the garment workers' strike in Chicago, but "Hull House" and its supporters will gain nothing in encouraging deeds of lawlessness and violence.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthew Adams.)

I sit up to the grinning board and eat fried liver with a smile; my stomach's not a protest raised, for porters' wages are more in style. LIVER My grandma, who is bent FRIED with care, and rather dotty now and then, is weary of the bill of fare, and kicks and kicks and kicks again. "Great Caesar" cries that worthy dame, when she beholds the liver fried, "this sort of grub is just a shame—why don't you cook a piece of hide? I'm yearning for an oyster stew, a turkey stuffed with good old wine; so loosen up, my lad—please do, and buy some decent grub today!" "Oh, granny dear," I make reply, "I know that liver's pretty punk; I too would like an oyster fry, and terrapin and kindred junk; but while I keep a grinning board some luxuries must be denied; I'll buy the grub I can afford and let the other victims slide, I'd rather chew a cobblestone than over the greasy's due-bill fret; I'd rather gnaw a marrowbone than eat a pie and be in debt. Too many people, granny mine, are buying oysters in this town, with mortgages on their tree and vine, and turning good old liver down. And maybe, granny, by and by, when things have turned and changed about, we'll eat the oysters, you and I, and they'll be on the liver route."

WOMAN ACCUSED OF THREATENING BANKER—MISS ANNA VOLINSKY, WHO IS ACCUSED OF HAVING SENT LETTERS THREATENING THE LIFE OF JACOB H. SCHIFF, THE WELL KNOWN BANKER.

New York.—When Miss Volinsky, a woman of about 40 years, was placed in the psychopathic ward of Bellevue hospital for observation the mystery of the alleged attacks on the life of Jacob H. Schiff was somewhat cleared. The woman was arrested in the office of her attorney, Bernard H. Sandler, at No. 257 Broadway, who was about to take her into the custody of the district attorney.

She said she was in a stock brokerage business prior to 1907, but was then engaged to solicit subscriptions for the Montefiore home on a 50 per cent commission. She said that in the two years following she obtained 600 new subscribers to the philanthropy, each paying from $10 to $25 yearly.

On November 8, 1909, Miss Volinsky said she received a letter from Mr. Schiff regretting her resignation and enclosing a warm letter of recommendation for her work as a solicitor of the Montefiore home, which she showed.

"I felt that in view of the fact," said Miss Volinsky, "that I had never been paid for but part of my commission for the home and that there was still a considerable balance due me, and because of the humiliations that I had gone through as a result of the attack on me, I was entitled to consideration and monetary redress.

"I never in my life owned a pistol, I never in my life fired one, and certain it is that I never in any way or in any manner threatened Mr. Schiff, whom I have always found to be a gentleman. I am the last person to wish his harm in the slightest degree."

In court Dr. Siegfried Wachmann appeared on the papers as complainant. He is medical director of the Montefiore home. In his affidavit he said that the woman had written threatening letters not only to him, but also to Mr. Schiff and Kaufman Mandel, the latter two being directors of the home. Attached to the complaint were several of these letters and in all of them the woman referred to her being unable to get her commissions.

Miss Volinsky has been living at the Trowman Inn, in Abington Square.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE WORLD GROWS BETTER.

Said my neighbor: "What a trail of corruption has been over the land! Dishonesty in San Francisco, graft in Albany, shame in Columbus, bribery in Springfield, perversion of justice in Chicago. I tell you the world is not growing better."

But hold! Think you the world knew nothing of craft and greed and graft in the day when civilization was young?

Why, you may read that, 3,000 years ago, "Samuel's sons walked not in his ways, but turned aside after hire and took bribes, and perverted justice." And the sons of Samuel are yet with us.

There is evil in the world and human nature is much the same as in the days of Israel, but—

It is also true that the world has a greater stock of goodness than ever before. Bravely speaking—

The people's sense of justice is keener. There are more helping hands. There are more kind hearts. There is wider opportunity for the merciful. Wisdom begins to cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

War is ceasing. Side by side, the enlisted and the Red Cross ambulance run together. The world's best and wisest hold up imploring hands for arbitration and for peace. See the White Palace at The Hague! Daily warfare grows more expensive and more deadly. Daily it is named as a moral crime. And soon, along the iron front of bristling war shall sound the bugle notes of universal truce!

Outrages? Yes, justice is perverted. Lipless innocence is betrayed. The white breast of womanhood is scarred. Bachelors slay their victims. Mothers in Israel are outraged on the plains of Russia and Armenia's children perish on the white mountains. Yes, yes, these and a thousand others beside.

But—Conscience thunders in men's bosoms as never before. Womanhood is rising from its knees. The drunkard finds a cure for his disease. Good Samaritans abound. Sympathy is poured out as a flood. Every day the sun throws new shadows from rising hospitals and homes for the friendless. At eventide it grows lighter, even in the land of the Turk. Tyranny can scarce find a place on which to rear its evil throne. Hate grows weaker. Love grows stronger.

Yes, despite the sons of Samuel, despite the evil, the world grows better—slowly, surely, grandly!

One Woman's Scheme.

The thrifty wife of an officer in our army saw no reason why the big sheets of linen paper covered with figures and calculations should be thrown away. She begged all she could get, soaked them, and for her reward had enough fine linen to make frocks and blouses for the family. The ink does not go through the surface finish and so a perfect treasure lies underneath to be had for a bit of hot water and the asking.

Teachers Must Study. The successful men of every business are those who have been close students. The man who is so busy that he has no time to study never gets very high in his profession. The excuse, lack of time, is not valid. We all have all the time there is, and that is ample for all purposes. It is simply a matter of using it properly. An hour or more of good hard study should be in the daily program of every teacher.

The Presto Shawl-Collar Coat Something New

The practical Presto Convertible Collar in conjunction with a stylish shawl-collar.

The "Presto" Collar is converted as simply and as quickly as you would "turn up" the collar of your ordinary coat, and the presence of the Presto feature is no more apparent than if it were not there. The protection is always present and at the first sign of storm or wind the military collar may be brought into use; it is neat and close-fitting—the very acme of style.

One model is developed in a rich grey tweed of medium weight and quite warm; full length, semi-fitted, cut and made to produce that smart, manly air, which is the true tailor's last trick with women's garments. We do not think you can get a more appropriate or more stylish utility coat than the one we have described.

$18.50. Others $13.50, $15.00 and $16.50.

For one who motors regularly, or only occasionally, a Presto collar coat is the "handiest" thing imaginable. For travelling and walking, nothing could be more appropriate.

Many charming coat models embodying the newest style touches are here. They come in diagonal weaves, chicken-foot checks, Scotch plaids, tweeds and chevrons. $10.00 to $35.00.

COMMON SENSE CURE FOR RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism has, for ages been a puzzle to the doctors. Some claim it to be an infection, a germ disease. Others claim that the cause is uric acid, a kidney disease. It is said that uric acid is carried by the blood into the small apertures of the joints and skin where it crystallizes and it is the small, sharp crystals that cause intense pain with every motion of the body by cutting into the flesh and nerves. Whatever the cause, the heat relief known is an Alkaline Efflorescence of the Salicylates. The chemical nature of the Salicylates is to form soluble compounds with the urates. In this way these crystals are dissolved, taken up by the blood and taken out of the body by the kidneys.

This rheumatic efflorescence is taken in teaspoonful doses in hot water before meals. The cure is often in a day or two, yet the remedy should be taken for some time to thoroughly neutralize the blood and prevent a recurrence of the trouble. The eliminations, as the doctors would say, that is the kidneys and the bowels, should be kept active. Rheumatic Efflorescence is compounded by Mr. Flenig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, who would be pleased to give you any other information you wish. Sold at 50c. Ray Stevens of Madison was taken to the supreme court and the high tribunal recommended the case to the circuit court for trial on two special points. According to the tradition, a man by the name of Rogers for whom Mr. Mayhew did business, while in hard straits for ready cash, sold him his interest in an estate worth several thousand dollars which was to come to him upon the death of a certain woman in the east. It afterwards developed that the woman in question had been dead several weeks at the time the deal was made. Action was commenced to rescind the contract. Whitehead & Matheson are attorneys for the plaintiff and E. D. McGowan represents the defendant.

ENJOYED A BANQUET AT LOSER'S EXPENSE

Thomas F. McKelvie Entertains Sixty-Three of His Friends at an Elaborate Turkey Dinner.

It will be many a long day before the baseball enthusiasts of Janesville cause to talk of the elaborate turkey banquet given by Thomas F. McKelvie to sixty-three of his friends at the Janesville American War Veterans' hall last evening. It was the result of a wager that McKelvie had made with Oliver Tom Morley that the Chicago National League team would defeat the Philadelphia American League. Morley is an old time baseball player of not little prominence and he took the Athletics' end. The original bet called for a dinner for two but Mr. McKelvie included on his invitation list over sixty old prominent business men of the city who enjoyed his hospitality.

The arrangements for the dinner were left in the hands of Harry McKelvie, conductor on the Northwestern Road, famous dinner and he had a most delicious menu ready for the diners when they sat down. From the loaded tables of delicacies, from the savory sandwiches to the final course, the meal was faultlessly served by chefs and waiters brought from Chicago for the occasion.

Friends of Mr. McKelvie had surprised him by preparing a vaudeville program to follow the banquet proper and also in arranging the decorations for the evening. Both Mr. McKelvie and Mr. Morley were seated in large canopy enveloped thrones at each end of one of the three long tables used. Flags of Ireland were intertwined with the stars and stripes and slogans with the final scores of the two teams were most prominent. Roy Carer's orchestra furnished delightful music which inspired good music and the vaudeville sketches by local artists were received with enthusiasm. It was early this morning before the last speech was made and the party broke up after one of the most successful banquets ever given in the city.

WILD PANIC FOLLOWS
EXPLOSION OF BOMB

Building at Chicago Occupied by Many Italians Is Partially Wrecked, by Explosion.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—A bomb wrecked the three-story brick building at No. 2107 South Clark street, which was occupied by a number of Italian families, early today. A wild panic among the occupants immediately followed the detonation, many leaping from the lower windows, while others rushed down the stairways.

The explosion, which is declared by the police to have been the work of "Black Hand" immigrants, blew in almost the entire front of the building on the ground floor, which is occupied as a grocery. Part of the wall was demolished and all the windows were shattered. The shock made the building totter, and those asleep, believing it was collapsing, were almost helpless in their fright.

By the time a policeman, hearing the bomb's report, had reached the building, it had been emptied entirely of its occupants, many of whom stood shivering in their light attire. A call to a police station brought detectives, who, however, were unable to find a clue to the perpetrator.

The detectives learned that Antonio Frenzi, proprietor of the grocery, who, with his family, is an occupant of the building, had received a number of threatening letters directing him to put $1,000 in a certain place within a certain time, which had elapsed.

HANDY MANICURE SET

Buffer is Hollow and Contains Other Necessary Tools.

A handy little manicure set that can be carried in the pocket has been designed by a German. It is particularly convenient for travelers, owing to the small space it takes up, and enables them to keep their nails in good condition no matter how benighted the village where they may be. The secret of this manicure set is the buffer, which is hollow and contains all the other necessary tools—a cuticle knife, a nail file and tweezers. These are fastened in strips inside the buffer, and when all are put away and

CONVENIENT FOR TRAVELERS

The receptacle closed and the clasp fastened, nobody would imagine it to contain such a compact outfit. There is a wire rod around the periphery of the buffer, holding it in place, and when the handle is worn out it can be removed and replaced with new. This arrangement prevents the loss of the entire set, as a whole, depending on the life of the channel polisher. The whole apparatus is less than six inches long and only a little more than two inches thick.

THEATER

What Chicago Society Woman Said About Miss Watson.

An actress's dressing room is always characteristic of its occupant, even though her stay in it is of short duration, for if her personal belongings are many they are certain to add a charm and attractiveness that create an individual and home-like atmosphere.

It has been my pleasure and privilege to interview many well-known professionals and among my most delightful memories is a visit to Leona Watson in her dressing room, and a tote over the ten cups. She is a charming hostess and her hospitality is at once so gracious and spontaneous that one longs to partake of it again and again, leaving each time with a feeling of sincere regret.

Upon my last visit I found Miss Watson busy with requests for autographs and pictures from the "friends" who relentlessly pursue her, and in her good nature never weary of a refusal, it means an hour's devotion each day to this work alone, for her admirers are legion and never cease in their demands.

"How do you manage to make this tiny box of a place so homelike and attractive?" I asked, surprised that so small a room could fill so many requirements.

"My secret," said Miss Watson, "is to have a color scheme in my dressing room furnishings and those necessary accessories I carry in my theatre trunk; it helps wonderfully to create an attractive, homelike atmosphere and whether I remain a night or a week in a place these 'luxuries' are always unpacked. I choose pink as a color because it radiates warmth and comfort, and both are essential to well-being. Do you think the effect is homelike?"

There was a divan with flange, baby pillows and a downy pink coverlet suggesting long, restful hours between performances, and on the make-up table, always interesting in its mysterious appointments, there were pretty pin cushions and chintz boxes dear to the feminine heart.

The walls were hung with chintz curtains to protect a row of Adeline's little frocks of which there are duplicates so that each may be fresh and dainty.

Miss Leona Watson will appear with "The Golden Girl" at Myers theatre, Saturday, Nov. 5, matinee and evening.

Connors' Vaudeville Theatre. The vaudeville theatre, which will be given for the last time this week is making a hit with the people, and especially with the ladies. Sympathy may have something to do with it, but it is largely wonder at the marvelous things which Jim Black can do. At any rate he holds their attention closely all through his portion of the act and when he has finished the least clapping is done by feminine hands. The applause is done by feminine hands perhaps more critical and, when they do show their approbation, do so heartily. It is undoubtedly due to a beautiful instinct in women to give praise generously where it is deserved and those who have seen Black and Miss Leslie say they are more than worthy of the appreciation shown.

His Fatal Sneeze. The fishery guard Gunne, master of the patrol launch Chantony, which protects the fishing at the mouth of the Lake, was drowned off Palm-beach. Rising from his bed he went on dock after midnight in his night attire, and the cold brought on a sneezing fit which caused him to slip on the ice-covered dock and into the water. The engineer, awakened by the noise, tried to rescue him, but in vain.—Pitts-Parielen.

Wanted to Let Off Steam. Little Elmer accompanied his mother to church, and on the way had been cautioned to keep very quiet during the service. But Elmer became restless and said in an audible whisper: "Mamma, when we get home can I go out in the back yard and holler just once?"

Custom of 700 Years. The quaint Shrovetide custom of kicking a football through the public thoroughfares was observed in the market town of Atherstone, the old headquarters of the hating industry of Warwickshire, recently. For more than 700 years the practice has been religiously observed. Documents exist to prove the origin of the custom on Shrove Tuesday in the year 1200.—London Standard.

Physicians' Fees Fixed by Law. A German antiquarian has found documents showing that in ancient Babylon, 4,150 years ago, the sums due to doctors for treatment were exactly prescribed by law. They varied according to the social position of the patients.

Establishing a Precedent in California. Over at Bear creek, our enterprising little neighborhood across the hill, they have the justice of the peace under bonds to keep the peace and they have an addendum in jail. This is certainly establishing a precedent for a starter.—Red Lodge Picket.

TO DISTRIBUTE PEABODY FUND

Great Trust Left by Banker-Philanthropist in 1857 May be Finally Closed at Meeting Today.
(Special to THE GAZETTE.)

New York, Nov. 2.—The board of trustees of the Peabody fund, which includes among its members J. Pierpont Morgan, ex-President Roosevelt, Joseph H. Choate, Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts, Hoke Smith of Georgia, Governor Ansel of South Carolina and a number of other eminent men associated in this city to day for one of the most important meetings in the history of the fund, it is probable that a final distribution of the vast fund which has been in charge of the trustees for so many years will be decided before the meeting adjourns.

When George Peabody, the banker-philanthropist of Baltimore and London, died in 1867 he left in trust to a self-perpetuating board of trustees a fund of about $2,500,000, "the income thereof to be used and applied for the promotion and encouragement of intellectual, moral and industrial education among the youth of the most destitute portions of the southern and southwestern states of our Union, my purpose being that the benefits intended shall be distributed among the entire population, without other distinction than their needs and the opportunities of usefulness to them." He furthermore gave the trustees power, after the lapse of thirty years, to use the fund for the endowment of institutions provided two-thirds of their number should consider it expedient.

The income of the fund thus far has been used very largely in the training of teachers, and the principal beneficiary has been the Peabody Normal College of Nashville, Tenn. In 1905 the board decided to close the trust and offered the sum of $1,000,000 of the principal to that institution under certain conditions. The residue of the fund now remains to be distributed and it is expected that a number of educational institutions in the South and Southwest will receive the benefit.

NEW MOTTO TO THE FORE

FAMILIAR "DO IT NOW!" HAS BEEN SUPERSEDED.

Much More Aggressive is the New Best Seller—Dealer Gives His Opinion as to Causes That Led to Change.

In due time Ed Howe of Atchison, Kan., may inquire, "What has become of the old-fashioned business man who used to have the motto, 'Do it now' planned above his desk?" According to postcard manufacturers and retailers the occasion for this query is wellnigh at hand. The demand for the "Do it now" cards has been dying out for over a year.

"This is our best seller is the orphic line at present," said a dealer the other day. The card exhibited bore this inscription, printed in red: "If You Want to Find Out Who Is Boss Here, Start Something."

"The sentiment—if you can call it that—is slightly timeworn," went on the dealer, "but for several months it has maintained a strange popularity with the business men and really seems to have usurped the place of 'Do it now.'"

"From that I suppose this deduction may be drawn," said the customer wisely, "the fighting spirit of the American business man has no developed within the past two years that he is no longer satisfied with the simple, fatherlike warning above his desk."

The novelty merchant not only reads the trade journals, but comes into daily contact with diverse captains of industry and therefore knows whereof he speaks.

"Hardly that," he replied; "the American business man has never lacked aggressiveness. He and his father came into the commercial world with the fighting spirit, as you call it, fully developed. This was partly the result of certain peculiar conditions that have always obtained in America. For years the business man has been adding a suitable veneer to his inherent commercial instinct, and, during the process, has seen fit to provide himself with printed notices, warnings, suggestions, etc., some of which have aided him, no doubt, while others have been insane and useless. Finally, after the polishing period was well along and he acquired that much needed 'commercial pose' he became disgusted with the paternal solicitude embodied in the motto, 'Do it now.' In fact, he feels today that he does not need such an admonition staring him constantly in the face. In looking for another card to cover the faded spot on the office wall he hit upon this as best suited to a man whose primal instincts, so to speak, were those of a fighter. 'If You Want to Know Who Is Boss Here, Start Something.'"

Which Will It Be?

One of These Women to Be Mistress of Executive Mansion at Albany.

© 1910, by American Press Association.
MRS. STIMSON—MRS. DIS.

No matter whether a Republican or a Democrat is elected governor of New York state, the executive mansion at Albany is sure to have a charming and accomplished chateaufaine. Mrs. Stimson, wife of the Republican candidate, is a highly intellectual woman. One of her grandfathers was a noted abolitionist at Yale, and her father and brothers are all Yale men. She is also a great-granddaughter of Roger Sherman, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and is therefore a member of the National Society of Colonial Dames.

Mrs. Stimson is a fine horsewoman. She is devoted to charity work. Until recently she was an active member of the charity organization of New York city and at present is vice president of the Lincoln hospital, to which institution she gives much of her time during the winter.

Mrs. Dis, wife of the Democratic candidate, who was Miss Gertrude Thomson of Thomson, N. Y., which town was named in honor of Linton Thomson, Mrs. Dis's father, is a handsome woman, who is always gowned in the latest French creations. Like Mrs. Taft, she is a great globe trotter, having traveled extensively abroad in her automobile.

Doubtless Mrs. Dis will admit that she has two hobbies—keeping "Dorset" and buying from the farmers near her home, Pine Needles, bits of "furniture" that were the pride of the farmhouses back in the days when Burgoyne's army was encamped so close to the front door of Pine Needles that one can step from the drive on to what is left of the old Revolutionary earthworks.

Should Mrs. Dis become mistress of the Albany mansion the social life will be very gay, for she has a host of charming nieces to help her entertain.

Things That Kerosene Will Do.
Kerosene is an unpleasantly odorous commodity, but it has many uses that the housekeeper should know of. Here are some of them:

A little kerosene rubbed over the nickel on the kitchen range will clean it better than any metal polish and leave no scratches.

Use kerosene with your silver polish. The silver will clean much easier.

Apply kerosene to a burn if the skin is not broken. It will take the fire out and give relief.

Try cleaning finger marks or other dirt spots on paint with a little kerosene. It will remove the dirt and not injure the paint like soap.

Use a little kerosene on a clean cloth to wipe off the top of the mop boards. It will not disfigure the wall paper like soap and water.

Add a few drops of kerosene to the water in which you wash your windows. It will make them look clear and bright.

If your sink gets rusty wipe it over with kerosene.

Clean the zinc under the stove with kerosene and note the result.

Bernhardt Laughs at Doctors.

Sarah Bernhardt, the great actress, says she preserves her youthfulness by doing just exactly the opposite of what her doctor tells her to do. When asked how she preserved her strength and youthful appearance she said: "Probably it is because I am always working. I go in for no diet. I eat just what I like just what I feel I want to. And, yes, above all, I sleep a great deal—oh, ever so much. I don't usually get up early. I take all the sleep I want. I am never ill. I always feel fit, and if ever a doctor tells me to do anything I never do it. Today I was busy all the morning with my secretary. One hundred and forty-eight letters to read and answer—yes, 148. I thought I should never finish. Oh, what a temper I was in—no dreadful temper! It's a happy thing you didn't see me this morning."

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

There is a certain spot very near home for all of us, to which an occasional—say a weekly or at least a monthly visit—would be invaluable. And yet, some of us go there not more than once or twice a year, some of us once or twice in a lifetime, and some of us never. And that spot is simply the bottom of our hearts.

How often do you go down into the very bottom of your heart? A little friend of mine was trying to make up her mind about something. "In the bottom of your heart," I asked, "don't you know that you don't care for him?"

She sat thinking intently for a moment or two. "Yes," she acknowledged slowly. "In the bottom of my heart, I guess I do know it. I don't know as I ever went there to find out before."

That's the way with most of us. We have some important question to decide, and we argue with ourselves, and range disadvantages and advantages against each other in pitched battle, and get needlessly confused and embroiled, while down in the bottom of our hearts, clear and distinct as the pebbles at the bottom of a crystal well, the true answer lies waiting for us to come and look for it.

To ten men who are honest with other men, I don't believe there is more than one who is thoroughly honest with himself.

We try, self-consciously, to judge of other people's motives, but who is the man that knows even his own motives, I think.

I remember the first time I had a check book. As soon as I got it I wrote out a check for a certain charity. I intended to be pleased with myself at my virtuous action, and then I took a trip to the bottom of my heart, and wondered, "Am I doing this wholly for sweet charity's sake, or partly for the pleasure of using my new check book?"

I think the best time to go down to the bottom of your heart is in the morning, just after you wake up, or rather just after you have completely swept away the cobwebs of sleep by your morning bath.

The well is clearest then. At night the sunset glow of the emotionism, which is so much strongest in most of us at that time, is reflected in it and makes it less crystalline, and the breeze of mental excitement and enthusiasm, which is usually most lively then, ripples and quivers its surface.

But in the morning—the clear, cool, unemotional morning—the will of your innermost self awaits your scrutiny, clear as a crystal, unrolled as a mirror. Have you any problems to decide? Have you any subject that demands your very earnest consideration? If you have, why not see what suggestion lies at the bottom of your heart?

Why not visit that neglected spot tomorrow morning as you dress? You may not find anything different there from what you know already. And then again, you may find truth itself, unadorned and undisguised. But maybe you don't care much for truth that way. Perhaps you do.

BE A FRIEND TO NOBODY.

By MARY RUSSELL.

Are you alone in a town without any intimates and without a circle of friends? Then be a friend to nobody.

You will find the material right at hand. Perhaps it will not come in the guise of the social atep for which you planned but it will be worth while to try. Perhaps it is the little cash girl who runs your errands. If you are in the store or shop, perhaps it is the office boy who needs you.

Don't feel that you are miles above and reach down a patronizing hand. Probably the girl expects to make good in her position long before she is as old as you. She sees her own potentialities and looks with good natured tolerance upon the failure which she counts that you have made. The office boy expects to "give you a job" one of these days in his own mahogany furnished office. He is dreaming of a future greatness which are as real as any those for which the Argonauts sailed and fought and died. You are in no position to patronize such a master of blitheness as he hopes to be. True, the boy has not a kernel of a room and must take all his meagre wage to keep the wolf from the door of the home of his mother and younger brothers. True, that, compared to the home you have known, he may be in the very deep sea of degradation. He is so sure that he will rise that he forgets it and so must you.

The girl builds air castles of the future that her soul longs for. She will out-grow you when she can have her own money and buy the pretty gown and dainty hat, and out-dress you in her tasteless but so far as she now puts your modest attire to shame by her own elaborate head dress. True, your hair is sweet and clean, and is brushed with commendable regularity, while her tawdry topknot has not been cleansed since the hot day last August when she got off early. And she probably never has time to get all the tangles out—it takes so much time to make all the puffs and curls which are her ideal of style.

Forget all these things if you wish to be a friend. See only the warm little hearts that are full of kindness for you, and meet the owners with a heart full of love, longing to do them a kindly turn as the many little ones they do for you. Your influence may be the one which saves the boy from taking a plunge into youthful dissipation which will wreck all his ambitions—if you are a real friend, not a pretended one.

You may be able to give the girl higher ideals of life than she now possesses. You may even be able to make her see that dainty care of the body is worth more to her than a pretentious exterior which covers, but does not conceal, the untidy foundations. All these you may do and at the same time have a real friendship which will help you to be happy. Do not sit down and long for the unattainable but take what you can get in the right way, and be sure that all the other friendships for which you long will come to you in good time.

It is a small world when we have all we want. It is too small a world to hide from our kind when we have anything to conceal. But it is a large and lonesome world to the friendless and alone.

You—my girl or my boy—alone in the business world, have your problems to solve. Begin by making some one else less lonely. Be friendly. Say "hello" to the clerk who serves you. Do not take part in gossip. Give no word out from your lips that would wound another. Perhaps that other has all that one person should be called upon to endure. What do you know of conditions?

In what ever niche fate has placed you remember that to have friends you must be friendly. There is no greater achievement than to be a "good friend."

Good Form

Women who are polite in practically all other places sometimes are positively rude at card tables. It would perhaps help them to be self-controlled and civil when the game is going against them to remember that, after all, it is only a game and, though they lose, their defeat is only temporary.

However different one may be in fact when one is losing, and few persons are as interested when the cards are against them, it is a matter of good breeding to pretend as much enjoyment as when success is on her side. It is not polite to be snappy and dull just because one is losing. Such conduct makes the winning couple extremely uncomfortable.

Courtesy, at all times desirable, at cards should be regarded as imperative. To comment unfavorably upon the playing of a hand is the height of ill manners and need not be excused on the ground of instructing the ignorant. A woman who might sincerely wish to play a better game does not care to be criticized and drilled in public, and the one giving instruction is a self-appointed teacher who is not desired.

At a bridge luncheon recently the players at one table were amused to hear at the completion of every hand a lecture by one of the guests. The woman who talked played well—admitted that—but the afternoon was not a chess in card playing. It was a social meeting where each woman was supposed to stand upon the merits of her game. The woman who did the talking was not discomfited, nor did she select one person for her victim. Impartially she instructed the whole table, with the result that when she had gone at the end of the afternoon those remaining later declared that she had almost spoiled the game.

The correct thing for her to have done was to remain quiet, no matter how poor the playing of others might be. If she were asked any questions as to what to do she might have answered briefly and courteously, but she should have remembered that the afternoon was one of relaxation and amusement, not of instruction.

The woman who loses her temper with her partner commits an unpardonable breach of good manners. No is it enough to control the tongue alone at such times. Manner as well must be courteous, and one who cannot regard these dictates of good breeding should never play cards.

Automobile Etiquette.

It looks unconventional for a young girl to go automobile with several young men unless they are relatives, for somehow it is suggestive of a "sporty" tendency on her part, and so the one girl in a group of men is never quite so delicately treated by the world as is the maid who has some body of her own sex in her company. Therefore, all things considered, the champion is a useful personage, and a girl is a good deal older than the rest of the party every body is likely to have in the best possible manner.

Proper dress for motoring depends upon the excursion itself, whether taken in town or in the country or if the

Invitations to Children's Parties.

Good form requires that all invitations of both girls and boys shall be issued in the name of their parents or of one of the relations with whom they live. The very obvious reason for this is that did one of the mothers give invitations it might be done without the knowledge of the other.

Rarely do birthday parties need invitations other than formal notes to be written by the mother. It is not to parents of the others that the communications are addressed, but to the young people themselves. In notes something after this fashion:

My Dear Mary—Will you not give Anna and me the pleasure of your presence at a birthday party we are giving for her on Thursday, the 25th? We are asking some of her young friends to be here about 8 o'clock, and hope you will be among them.

A Social Duty.

To send a box of candy, a book or a box of flowers after having made a short visit is a tactful act which costs little either in time or money. Only a visit and card bearing no writing may be treated.

Related Appreciation of Genius.

Centenaries, bi-centenaries and ter-centenaries are quite the rage. Every week we do homage to the memory of some great man whose genius the world has taken one, two or three centuries to recognize. It is somewhat late and often ridiculous.

Lost Her Hair

Woman Almost Baldheaded Grew Four Inches of Hair.

Here is a piece of fine news from Brownstown, Minn., that ought to interest sleepless men or women readers of the Gazette who are losing their hair or have dandruff or itching scalp. Remember that The People's Drug Co. sell Parisian Sage under a positive guarantee to stop falling hair and itching scalp and eradicate dandruff in two weeks.

Parisian Sage is a most refreshing and delicately perfumed hair dressing, free from grease or stickiness. It makes dull, lifeless hair radiant and lustrous.

"Parisian Sage is the best hair grower and beautifier and dandruff cure. I lost all my hair through typhoid fever; I was almost baldheaded and my scalp was as sore as could be. I tried everything, but in vain. Finally I tried Parisian Sage, and after using one bottle my hair started to grow, and has grown three or four inches inside of two months. I advise every lady who wants beautiful hair to use Parisian Sage." Miss Meta M. Kruger, Brownstown, Minn., June 8, 1910.

Parisian Sage is only 50 cents a large bottle at The People's Drug Co. and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

IF WOMEN of the world would develop a sense of beauty, would apply it, first to that body which is the fairest thing God ever made; second, to the clothing of that fair body in all honor to the immortal soul within; third, to the encompassing household walls, with which so many of life's tenderest hours are passed and such high duty done; by this three-fold expression of beauty, though which is truth and right, they would do more to elevate the race and purify politics than even the right of suffrage will accomplish.

Raisin Pie.

Take one-half cup of raisins, one cupful of water, and three-fourths of a cup of sugar, one tablespoonful of cornstarch, yolk of two eggs and the grated rind of a lemon. Cook all together, except the eggs, add the lemon juice and the eggs and cook enough to set the eggs. Fill a baked crust and cover with a meringue.

Seasonable Suggestions.

The season of the golden pumpkin and the sweet potato is here and the time for making mince-meat. Of the making of mince-meat there is no end; but none except mother's ever tastes quite right.

When buying pumpkin for pies, take one that is heavy for its size. Cut open, remove the seeds, pare and cut in rather fine pieces. Put in a granite kettle with just enough water to keep from burning; simmer for several hours, stirring occasionally. When cooked quite dry, put through a sieve and it is ready for the pie. A cup of pumpkin to a pint of milk is good proportion. Season with salt, a teaspoonful of ginger and half a teaspoon of lemon extract.

In preparing mince-meat, the proportion of one part of cooked chopped meat to two parts of apples chopped, apples, sugar, raisins and orange peel to taste with sufficient elder to make of the right consistency. Cook together slowly until thick.

Sweet potatoes are very nice cooked with the roast and basted with the fat while cooking.

Glazed sweet potatoes are another favorite. Boil the potatoes with their jackets on, then peel and when cold slice; put in the baking dish and baste with sugar and butter.

When ironing braided work or embroidery, iron the work on the wrong side over a towel.

SUBSTITUTES FOR MEAT.

A common mistake is eating a variety of food in an effort to make up for the omission of meat. The experience of the rich, show men of Japan shows that one can do more work on rice (unmilled) than on meat. Nuts, eggs, beans, cheese and milk are each more nourishing than meat. The nutriment obtained from a food is not determined entirely by the nutriment it contains, but largely by the ease of digestion and assimilation. Rice is completely digested and assimilated when there is a demand for nourishment. Meat and other animal foods tend to toxification.

Social Note from Kansas.

There will be a marriage in Aachen for which there is no possible excuse. The man is no longer young, he is shiftless, ugly and ornery, and yet a nice, respectable girl is about to marry him. If she is doing it out of pity she should have some of that feeling for her father, who will have the worthless fellow to keep. Girls have little pity for their fathers, by the way.—Atchison Globe.

It was at the battle of Monmouth that Washington aroused the admiration of an officer who overheard a few pungent and suppurous exclamations from the father of his country. ## Facts for Sick Women

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or secured so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every woman you meet has either been benefited by it, or knows some one who has.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made exclusively from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to healthy and normal activity.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials such as the following prove the efficiency of this simple remedy.

Minneapolis, Minn.,— "I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women. I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. Within three months I was a perfectly well woman."

"I want this letter made public to show the benefits to be derived from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. John G. Moldan, 2117 Second St., North Minneapolis, Minn.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

RITA FORINA IN

A FINE RECITAL

Opened Apollo Club Season at Myers
Theatre—One of Rarest Musical Treats in Local History.

There is a temptation to award the little laurel crown without delay, conceding that no lyric soprano voice of like purity and volume and mellow, sympathetic timbre has ever heretofore charmed the listeners at a Janesville concert. Certain it is that no prima donna of Madame Rita Forina's varied accomplishments and attractiveness has appeared on a local platform under Apollo Club auspices.

The interpretation of the aria from Mascagni's "Hérodiade" served to reveal not only the remarkable tonal qualities of that golden voice but also dramatic capabilities of the highest order. In her lighter moods, too—in the little selections from Hugo Wolf and Arno and Harbke—the artist captivated every hearer. And the final offering, Gounod's "Ave Maria," was something which flowed on and on long after real sounds had ceased.

Madame Forina was attired in a gorgeous gown of old rose, gold embrodered chiffon over satin and the ultra-modern hobble was greatly in evidence in the exits and the entrance.

The name of Charles Larvey, the gifted pianist, belongs in "black caps" alongside those of the prima donna and Arturo Tibaldi, the violinist. His versatility and remarkable delicacy of touch made themselves apparent in the accompaniments and there was genuine regret that the program assigned to him only two brief solo numbers.

Mr. Tibaldi fulfilled the highest expectations as a violin virtuoso and excelled in offerings of a meditative character such as the opening "Andante-Ritardando" and Schubert's "Chant Malin." Though there was some remarkable bowing and plenty of evidence of mastery of the technique in the collection of little offerings from the Swedish, Spanish, and German composers and the Venetian minuet.

Despite the inclement weather, there was a large audience at the Myers theatre—not as demonstrative as might have been expected but very appreciative, notwithstanding. The concert surpassed the predictions of President George S. Parker who made the preliminary address and sets a new standard for the Apollo Club.
The attendance at the opening entertainment may be taken as a sure prophesy of one of the most prosperous seasons in the club's history.

Officials of the Wisconsin Telephone southern part of the state. The tour is being made by auto and the party

They stayed here only a short time yesterday as they were on their way to Beloit. They returned this afternoon and inspected the local conditions of the company and looked over the exchange under way of construction.

Nearly all the stations in the southeastern part of the state will be visited in this tour which began yesterday morning and will be of four days duration. Among the towns to be visited are Waukesha, Eagle, evening. The entertainment consisted in progressive chess in which Mrs.

supper was served from the well-filled baskets which had been thoughtfully brought. Many useful presents were left and festivities lasted until an early morning hour. Friends from Janesville made the trip by auto.

EASTERN STAR GAVE

ELABORATE BANQUET

Evansville Ladies Entertained a Number of Guests at an Enjoyable Banquet Monday Evening.

Evansville, Nov. 1.—The dining room of the First Baptist church was the scene last evening of a very enjoyable banquet in which about one hundred and fifty members of the Order of Eastern Star participated.
Appropos of Halloween the room was very prettily decorated with pumpkins, corn stalks and jack-o-lanterns, and the idea was further carried out at the tables where large baskets made from pumpkins and filled with fruits made attractive centerpieces.
The members of the visiting chapters which included fifty-one from Oregon, fourteen from Albany and eleven from Cookeville were received at the Messiah hall where the line of march was formed, and upon arriving at the Messiah hall the guests united in singing the doxology last before being seated at the tables. Mrs. Jennie Bower of Janesville, who has just been elected grand associate matron of the Wisner. From the feast board the company returned to the Masonic hall which was illuminated with jack-o-lanterns and decorated with black cats, to listen to the toasts and program. Mrs. Burr Tolles presided as toast-mistress, and the visiting chap-

Rock County board of supervisors,
